BAYPORT FLOWER HOUSES Named One of Today's Garden Center's "Revolutionary 100"

Bayport Flower Houses has, once again, joined the ranks of the horticulture industry's top local garden centers when it was named one of Today's Garden Center magazine's Revolutionary 100 Garden Centers for 2015.

"The garden centers that made this year's list are an exceptional group of forward-thinking independent retailers who understand that their customers constantly evolve. The Revolutionary 100 strive to provide what customers need to succeed in the gardening lifestyle," says Today's Garden Center Group Editor Carol Miller. "We are proud to call them revolutionary."

The 2015 Revolutionary 100 Awards program is run by the garden retail trade magazine Today's Garden Center and is sponsored by American-Hort, the national association for the garden industry.
