Celebrating 85 Years! 1932-2017 Our Roots Are Your Success!

"There will come a time when you believe everything is finished.
Yet that will be the beginning."

~Louis L'Amour

As I write this I long for the mild beautiful days of February ;). It's often difficult to know for sure when the seasons change, I know what the calendar says but it is often at odds with Mother Nature. Knowing where things begin and end is quite elusive. I have noticed recently that gardeners are really beginning to embrace this. They have become aware of this circle of life and how our actions have reactions and influence the world around us. For us this is a very positive energy source. Whether it's planting to attract wildlife or designing a rain garden or fertilizing properly to preserve our groundwater and bays, our actions collectively have the power to fuel this circle of life.

Spring is a time to re-energize and get our hands dirty...not just beautifying our lives but also enhancing and caring for the world we live in. Every living thing has a part to play in this, knowing this is what will sustain and give hope. I am sure if you are reading this you fancy plants, and know we are an optimistic bunch, who else plants a seed but an optimist!

Enjoy the energy and community that gardening imparts... and remember you are never finished, it's just a series of beginnings.

All the best! ~Karl

SUMMER BLOOMING BULBS Summer flowering bulbs are relatively easy to grow, and many grow well on Long Island. Most of them are grown for their flowers, some for their foliage. Some of the more commonly grown summer flowering bulbs grown are begonia, caladium, calla, canna, dahlia, daylily, gladiolus, iris and peonies. Some bulbs may be grown as pot plants, some as pot or garden plants, and others as garden plants only. In the garden, various kinds of bulbs may be used as foundation plantings, as borders, in front of shrubs, or in groups for masses of color.

Let's Talk About Gerbera Daisies!

April's Flower, it was named in honour of German botanist and medical doctor Traugott Gerber (1710-1743) who travelled extensively in Russia and was a friend of Carl Linnaeus.

Gerbera daisies can mean innocence, purity, and cheerfulness. Daisy-like blooms grow to 5 inches wide with layers of thin petals. They also grow in many sizes including miniature varieties; single-flowered or double-flowered; and spider varieties. Colors include white, cream, yellow, gold, pink, magenta, salmon, orange, red and bi-colors. They are the perfect flower to brighten someone's day!
